The challenge

One of a manager's most important tasks is to develop new project and company strategies and to follow and support team work and knowledge exchange. It is often not possible for managers in modern companies to master these tasks because they have to invest too much valuable time looking for the right information or contacts.

Structured and personalized information can help the top decision-makers in a company minimize wasted time and stay focused on the important management questions.

This is precisely the challenge for a manager portal: corporate and employee information is usually spread across various internal and external systems. A simple search is often impossible without having special knowledge of the different IT systems – this delays important decision and change processes within a company.

Our services

With years of experience in designing efficient working environments btexx has developed a manager portal that gives structure to information and services and makes these available according to target groups. The key positions in your company have their own, individual portal pages which show all of the most important work-related information at a glance: key performance indicators (KPIs), employee overviews, news channels (internal/external), mobile access to your portal pages, and much more.

The btexx manager portal is based on the proven SAP Enterprise solutions for mapping your business processes, the SAP Netweaver Portal, and the stable SAP Manager Self Services (optionally with Adobe Flex technology).

Your benefits

Your management staff benefits from uniform user interfaces, context-specific information, and an integrated information research service. Long initialization times are a thing of the past. Location and time-independent access to your portal (e.g., via web browsers or mobile devices) ensures faster handling of processes and more efficient provision of information, which noticeably reduces delays.
